We continue our way to Damnoen Saduak Floating market, which is specialized in trading fruits, vegetables, etc... by small boat. In the old days, floating markets were formed because roads and means of road traffic have not developed.

Due to the demand for buying and selling goods, people gather in the river by means such as boats. Nowadays, despite the fact that the road network has developed everywhere, floating market still exists and develops more and more.

Lunch on your own.

Lading Island or Paradise Island – A small and secluded island located between Pak Bia island and Hong island. Beautiful scenery with a small bay surround by intricate limestone, soft white sand beach and emerald colour sea. Because of this reason Lading island is also known as “Paradise island”. Here you can relax and have lunch.

Hong Island – Set against the spectacular backdrop of Phang Nga Bay, with its countless rocky outcrops, the islands are rightly considered to be among the most beautiful in Krabi province.

The main island, Koh Hong is uninhabited, except for the birds, white-faced gibbons and giant monitor lizards that can be often spotted on the main white sand beach.

Hong Island Lagoon – Hong Island interior is home to a large lagoon (the “chamber” to which its Thai name “Hong” refers).
